Pollack finds the locus of most cell activity and function in the general phase-transition properties of gels. He cites the practical use of phase-transitioning gels in engineering and presents evidence of similar mechanisms at work in the major functions of cells. In phase transitions, "triggering is 'razor-edge.'

The basic engine of cellular energy is likened to a process of setting up and knocking down rows of dominoes. The bulk of effort goes into creations of order, essentially setting up dominoes in a row. This order can then be released, creating a rush of work energy with the mere touch of a finger (phase-transition trigger).
