People of the Book or People of the Scripture is an Islamic term which refers to Jews, Christians and Sabians. It is also used in Judaism to refer to the Jewish people and by members of some Christian denominations to refer to themselves. The Quran uses the term in reference to Jews, Christians and Sabians in a variety of contexts, from religious polemics to passages emphasizing the community of faith between those who possess monotheistic scriptures. The term was later extended to other religio

IN the Qur'an, Christians, Jews (and Sabeans) are presented as ahl al-kitab, "People of the Book". Throughout history, this term has been seen as one of tolerance by Muslims towards faiths possessing a revealed book (the Torah, the Gospel, or the Avesta), or conversely as a degrading label offering only dhimmitude, second-class status, to Jews and Christians living under Muslim rule.
